Tarangire National Park

Everything seems to be cast on a grander scale in Tarangire National Park, from the giant baobab trees that bring such personality to the park's landscapes to the massive elephants for which the park is famous. Although a popular place to visit for travelers on safari through northern Tanzania, Tarangire rarely feels crowded, and that becomes even more true the further south you go in the park. Other wildlife to look forward to here includes big cats, zebra, hippo, buffalo, wildebeest and more. If you're really lucky, you might spy the park's transient population of African wild dog.

Accommodation | Day 2

Farm of Dreams Lodge

Lodge

Close to Karatu but nicely separated from the bustle of the downtown area, Farm of Dreams Lodge is a lovely place to stay on your way between Lake Manyara and Ngorongoro. Rooms, all with mosquito nets, are a mix of terracotta, wood and thatched roofs. There's also a swimming pool, restaurant, and plenty of palm trees.

Ngorongoro Crater

Ngorongoro is a special place and the first time that you descend onto the crater floor is like no other safari experience in Africa. This is a world unto itself, one where you'll encounter the crater's 600-strong population of hyenas, as well as critically endangered black rhinos. You'll also find elephants with larger-than-average tusks, and more than 50 lions living in the crater. But it's the sheer beauty of Ngorongoro that will most likely live longest in your memory. From early morning, mist rises from the crater, revealing steep, forested walls, secret waterways where hippos wallow, and a world of abundant wildlife hidden away from the rest of the world.
